

The IB says: “The annotated list of sources should refer to all materials used in researching the topic and all materials used in the documentary itself, including films from which extracts will be shown and quotations from experts or academics. Annotations should give the source and/or location of the reference. A comment on the relevance of the source may be included.”

Bibliography

How to cite a short film included as an extra on a DVD.

